ACWD's Love Affair with Water

ACWD employees share a special love for water that extends well beyond our careers! It is easy to see this passion for water in employees' responses when asked, "Why do you love water?"

"Dehydration is a serious condition, especially for an athlete. I teach my three young children to drink lots of water prior to their soccer games because it is essential for their overall health." - Renee, Finance

"Water is essential to life. For this reason, I love working in the lab and being able to help guarantee our customers are receiving high quality, safe drinking water." - Nadia, Water Quality Laboratory

Water recirculates itself in nature, via the water cycle, enough so that the water we bathe in today could have been the same water that was used to quench a dinosaur's thirst!" - Megan, Water Conservation

"I love water because it nourishes the body and the earth. Water is a precious gift from nature. Without water, we would never see a raindrop on a rose petal." - Andrew, Cross Connection

"Life is impossible without water. It sustains all life on this beautiful planet. We all need it. Love it!" - Ranga, Water Resources

"I love water because: Water = Life"
- Andy, Operations

"I love working in the water profession because I'm able to help provide a healthy and essential resource to the people of our community." - Garth, Human Resources
